To the Applicants for the 2018-2019
Amy Lowell Poetry Travelling Scholarship:

I am pleased to announce that Molly McCully Brown of Little Rock, Arizona has been chosen from among 256 applicants, as the 2018-2019 Amy Lowell Poetry Travelling Scholar.

Molly McCully Brown is the author of “The Virginia State Colony For Epileptics And Feebleminded” as well as “What We Are: Essays”. Additionally, Ms. Brown has published many pieces of poetry and essays and is a Jeff Baskin Writers Fellow at the Oxford American. Her work has appeared in the LA Review of Books, the New York Times, and Publishers Weekly. Ms. Brown has received the Lexi Rudnitsky First Book Prize, the John and Renee Grisham Fellowship in Poetry, the William Stayton Prize in Nonfiction and in Poetry, and the Bondurant Poetry Prize. These are just a few of her many accomplishments.

Thank you all, most sincerely, for your interest in the Scholarship and your effort in applying, and best wishes in your writing careers.

Very truly yours,

William A. Lowell
Co-Trustee under the Will of Amy Lowell
